Arolan Opposed To Proposed Change In Zoning Ordinance

Owner of Vacant Lot at Broadway and East Chestnut Street Objects to Lot Being Placed in Residential Zone—Said He Would Sell Lot to Those Who Desire Change Made in Classification.

"If the ones who signed that petition pay me what I paid for this lot they can have it," said Ernest Arolan of 289 Foxhall avenue, speaking at the public hearing held Thursday evening by the laws and rules committee on a petition from Broadway property owners to have that area on Broadway from Stuyvesant street to Orchard street placed in the residential zone, instead of the business zone as at present classified. Mr. Arolan is the owner of the vacant lot at Broadway and East Chestnut street. The other objector to the granting of the petition was William Rahders of 245 Broadway, who said he would rather see a gas station on the vacant lot than overgrown with weeds and brush as it is now.

All of the property owners in that area of Broadway, with the exception of Messrs. Arolan and Rahders, had signed the petition asking that Broadway, from Stuyvesant street to Orchard street, be placed in the residential zone, instead of being classified as a business zone as at present.

Alderman Leirey, chairman of the laws and rules committee, presided at the public hearing, which was held in the council chambers of the city hall.

Attorney Robert G. Groves, who said he appeared for Dr. Joseph Jacobson and other signers of the petition, spoke briefly in favor of the petition being granted. He said there was no question but that the use of the vacant lot for commercial purposes would injure property values in that section.

Mr. Katz, whose residence adjoins the Arolan lot, also favored the granting of the petition.

Mr. Rahders, who lives across the street from the vacant lot, said he opposed the petition and believed that a gas station would prove a big benefit to the property.

Sam N. Mann, real estate broker, who handled the sale of the lot to Mr. Arolan, said he did not want to be quoted as opposed to the petition but as he happened to be the broker in the sale of the property he believed the committee should know the facts leading up to the sale. He said Mr. Arolan had attempted to purchase the property six months before the sale was finally consummated but that Miss Kennedy would not sell it unless it was restricted to residential purposes. Later she disposed of her interest in the former Dr. David Kennedy residence, and sold the vacant lot to Mr. Arolan "as is" under the zoning law, which does not restrict the use of the property.

Mr. Mann said that he did not believe the zoning law should be changed now so as to affect the property. Mr. Arolan, owner of the property, said he was not a public speaker and for that reason had jotted down what he wanted to say and read from a paper he held in his hand to the effect that he had bought the property for business purposes, and if the owners of adjoining properties wanted it placed in the residential zone he was willing to let them the lot for what he had paid for it. He said he had paid a big price for it and if he could not use it for business purposes it was a loss to him. He said that he stood on his rights and asked that the petition be rejected. If necessary he said he would fight for his rights in the courts, and called attention to the fact that he was a war veteran.

Attorney Groves said that Mr. Katz was also entitled to some consideration. He did not believe that any of the committee would like a gas station alongside their houses. Mr. Arolan was the only one who would be affected by the change.

Mr. Arolan said that as the lot was now it was an eyesore. He said that the property would be of no good to him if it was placed in the residential zone.

Mr. Katz reminded the committee that a gas station next the Rafferty property had proved a detriment.

"Why don't you buy this lot, then?" said Mr. Arolan turning to Mr. Katz.

"I don't want it," replied Mr. Katz.

"That's it," said Mr. Rahders. "Why don't those people who got up the petition buy the lot; they've got the money."

Alderman Leirey said if there was no one else who desired to be heard he would declare the hearing closed and said that the committee would submit a report later to the common council.

City of Glamorous Sheba Guarded By Fierce Arabs, Says Frenchman

Remains Seen From Altitude of a Thousand Feet by Explorer Malraux and Thought to be Lost Citadel of Once Powerful Queen of the East Encircled by White Tents of Nomads—Exact Latitude, Longitude Not Known.

Paris, March 22 (AP)—Fierce Arabs are believed by Andre Malraux, French explorer, to be guarding the secrets of the rich lost metropolis of the Queen of Sheba's reign against modern exploration.

Malraux, who with his pilot, Captain Cornillon Molinier, returned here yesterday, is sure they found the "Paris" of the glamorous Sheba in a cluster of ruined towers and temples on the southwestern edge of the Ruba-El-Khali desert, which he identified as the city of Naith.

The possibility that immensely valuable archaeological treasures, including the tombs of the queen and her dynasty—lie buried in the sandy waste is seen by Malraux, author and archaeologist.

"The Arab nomads who fired upon our plane when we flew over the city must be driven off, however, before exploration will be possible," Malraux said.

"Further research must await British pacification of the region."

"Until the desert is explored the exact location of the dead city cannot be fixed," said Malraux, adding: "We were unable to take the longitude and latitude of the spot which we reached after five hours of flying almost due north from Djibouti, French Somaliland."

(In their report on the flight March 8 to the French Air Ministry.

It was indicated the city was about 1,000 miles southeast of Jerusalem. They had headquarters at Djibouti.

"Explorers could mark the site easily," Malraux went on, "by measuring the number of miles from a given starting point."

The size of the cemetery convinced Malraux he had found Sheba's real metropolis.

"Sheba seemed to have three provinces," he said. "Mareb, previously believed to be the capital of all the great Queen's territory was merely the provincial capital, I believe, like Meir—another known city."

Their cemeteries are only about a quarter of a mile long while the metropolis of the newly discovered city is a mile and a quarter long.

"This leads me to believe that Naith was the capital of the kingdom," As Malraux said the city itself was three miles long and about half as wide.

Exhibiting photographs taken at a height of a thousand feet over the city, Malraux pointed out 20 temples and towers whose windowless walls and set-back architecture like modern skyscrapers rising above the lower houses further convinced him the city dates to the time of the famous queen.

The city, he said, is surrounded by the ruins of a double wall outside which are pitched the tents of hostile Nomads who fired upon their plane as it spiraled low for a better view.

W. Parsonage's Forbra, long shot winner of the 1932 running, was fourth.

Golden Miller and Delauney took the final jump, 300 yards from the finish, together, but in the final drive the favorite quickly pulled away as Johnny Wilson applied the hat.

Delaney was close to the front from the time the small field got away at 5:18 p. m. at 1:16 a. m. E. S. T. At dreaded Becher's Brook on the first time around the course, Southern Hue was setting the pace but the American horse was close behind.

As they reached the grand stand at the half-way mark, Greengal had taken command, closely followed by Delauney and Forbra.

Delaney, jumping beautifully, went into the lead at Becher's Brook for the second time. Golden Miller had moved into third place back of Forbra.

Thomond II moved up with the leaders and for a short time set the pace. He weakened, however, in the final test, but easily finished five lengths in front of Forbra.

The crowd cheered madly as Golden Miller pulled away from Delauney and Thomond II dropped back. He was, well, in hand as he crossed the finish line.

The small field, in contrast to the record field of 66 in 1929, enhanced the chances of Miss Page's Standard Bearer. After four horses fell at the first jump, the field quickly settled down to a beautiful contest. There was not a single spill in view of the grand stand.

While the NKA Frowns Upon Price-cutting Wars, Enterprising Barber Conducts His Own Warfare Right Under the Administrators' Noses.

Washington, March 23 (AP)—The NRA may frown upon price cutting wars, but many members of the house of representatives are smiling at one that is so to speak, right under their nose.

A sign outside the shining barber shop in the new house office building reads in effect: "Haircuts two bits; shaves 15 cents."

For years the barbers in the house side of the capitol and in the old office building have charged 50 cents for a haircut and 25 cents for a shave.

But the new office building was put up and a new bunch of barbers let in. They saw a chance for business, and promptly started to trim both congressional locks and prices to the tune of a quarter.

The other barbers let out a wail. They took their case to Joseph Sinnot, doorkeeper, who has charge of the barbershops in the capitol and the old office building.

Now he has put out new orders, all house haircuts are to be two bits and shaves 15 cents, just about 50 per cent below prices in other parts of town.

But even with all this the house members are worse off than their senatorial brethren. Senators can get their hair done for nothing in their own private barber parlor, for which the government pays all expenses.

Golden Miller, the Favorite, Wins the Grand National Race

Two American Owned Horses Finish Second and Third Respectively—Was the First Victory in Many Years for The Favorite Players.

Amvite, March 22 (AP)—Dorothy Page's Golden Miller, the favorite, today won the 26th running of the Grand National before a crowd of 20,000.

J. H. Snow's American owned Delauney was second and Thomond II, owned by John Hay Whitney, of New York, third in the field of 70.

Coming from behind on the last turn around the course, Golden Miller, held at the odds of 19 to 2, gave the favorite players their first victory in many years.

Delaney and Thomond II also were well backed.

The victory had an American tinge as Miss Page is a cousin of John Hay Whitney and C. V. Whitney.

Two of the other American horses, M. D. Blair's Prince Cherry, and F. Ambrose Clark's Sorley Boy, dropped out early in the race.

Prince Cherry pulled up while Sorley Boy fell.

Bandits Rob Bank Truck of $25,000.

Brooklyn, Mass., March 23 (AP)—Bandits today held up a truck belonging to the Home National Bank here and escaped, police said, with a sum estimated at $25,000. Police said between four and five bandits participated in the robbery.

The two men on the bank truck were rescued by bandits' pistol in Ames street.

Immediately after transferring the money to their machine the bandits sped off in the direction of Abington.

Police were notified within five minutes and state police from the Bridgewater Barracks joined in the pursuit.

Action Deferred on State Liquor Control Bill Until Next Week

Opposing Vote in Assembly Thwarts Measure Over for New Consideration—Senate Approved—Brooklyn Democrat Blocked Passage.

Albany, N. Y., March 23 (AP)—Delayed by one opposing vote in the Assembly, action on extension of the New York state liquor control law today had been deferred to next week.

Unanimous consent was necessary for immediate advancement of the bill after the Senate had voted April 1 to October 1. Unless it is continued or some permanent control legislation passed before April 1, the state will be without regulation and 12,000 license automatically will expire.

The board announced last night that liquor store licenses will be renewed for a six month period, beginning April 1.

The Senate passed the bill without opposition soon after receiving a message from the governor that an emergency exists.

Although publicly asked to do so by Irwin Steingart, Democratic minority leader, Assemblyman William Breitenbach, Brooklyn Democrat, refused to withdraw his objection.

Breitenbach also opposed a companion bill which called for a sharp reduction in license fees.

Two bills were referred to committee and will not be ready for a vote until next week.

Breitenbach and Assemblyman Christopher C. McGrath, Bronx Democrat, voted against another measure, which extended the liquor, wine and beer taxes. It was passed by both Houses and sent to the governor.

Assailing Edward P. Mulrooney and his associates on the board, Breitenbach said he was opposing the legislation because he feared it might lead to prolonging the life of the board.

He said he favored the present control be replaced with the old excise law, as proposed in a bill by Assemblyman Frank N. Bernhardt of Buffalo.

The following provisions are included in the bill:

Extension of the ABC board to October 1; licensing of clubs, hotels and restaurants on a pro rata basis when open less than a year, with a one-third minimum; reduction of a distillery license from $15,000 to $7,500 and wholesalers from $4,800 to $4,400; creation of a class "B" or rectifying plant license with a fee of $5,000.

Consumption on the premises fees for liquor licenses were: $1,200 in the counties of New York, Kings, Bronx and Queens; $800 in the county of Richmond and cities having a population of more than 100,000 and less than 1,000,000; $600 in cities of more than 50,000 and less than 100,000; $400 elsewhere in the state. Fees for clubs would be one-half.

Fees for off the premises consumption would be $800 in cities of more than 1,000,000 (formerly $1,200); $500 in cities of more than 100,000 and $300 elsewhere.

A new license is created for the combination sale of wine and beer for consumption on the premises, at the rate of $300 a year in cities of 100,000 or more and $150 per year elsewhere.

The fee for a retail off-the-premise beer and wine store is increased from $50 to $400 a year, except that where the premises are situated outside a city or village, or in a village of less than 1,000, the fee is $200, instead of $25.

ALL ITALIANS EMBRACE FASCIST FLAG, SAYS D. DUCE.

Rome, March 23 (AP)—The whole of the Italian people has flocked to the banner of the Fascist flag today, cheering thousands of black shirts, celebrating the 15th anniversary of the party's foundation.

Fifteen years ago there was only a handful of men around the banner," the premier said. "Today the whole nation is arrayed in black."

"We have fought for this faith and we are always ready to die for it. Are you willing?" he demanded. The crowd shouted a tumultuous "Yes!"

Ceremonies began with a group of men who met with Mussolini in San Sepolcro Square, Milan, March 23, 1919, to found the party, arriving from Milan. Mussolini and thousands of Rome Fascists met them at the station today.

Leaders of Unions Summoned to Conference With Johnson Today

Growing Feeling That Today Had Definitely Become The Deadline For Negotiations—Administrator Conferred With Automobile Manufacturers This Morning But Both Sides Kept Strict Silence As to the Results.

Washington, March 23 (AP)—In another move to prevent the threatened automobile workers' strike, the leaders of the unions were summoned today to a conference this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock (E. S. T.) with High S. Johnson, NRA administrator.

At this meeting, the labor leaders expected to hear some definite word from the administration, but had no assurances as to what was planned.

During the morning, Johnson conferred with the automobile manufacturers but both sides kept strict silence as to the results.

There was a growing feeling that today had definitely become the deadline for negotiations.

The manufacturers were eager to return to Detroit and the union leaders were having increasing difficulty convincing some groups of their followers at home that action had to be delayed further.

Labor men spent much of the morning sending reassuring messages to Detroit, Flint and other points.

They still expressed confidence in President Roosevelt would uphold their demand for elections in the industry to determine the right of the unions to represent their members in collective bargaining with the management.

The Chief Executive was kept closely informed today of other developments in capital-labor disputes, which included:

1. Railroad Coordinator Joseph R. Eastman expected to confer today with rail managers in the wage dispute he is seeking to arbitrate, and possibly also with employe spokesmen. He expected that negotiations would run into week.

2. A strike of Pacific coast longshoremen due at 8 a. m. today was averted by a direct Presidential request. The men accepted his plan for investigation of the controversy by an impartial board to be named by Mr. Roosevelt.

In the automobile situation, officials here took particular note of a statement from the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, countering one issued by William Green, president of the A. F. of L. It charged Green with having "shifted his ground" from the recognition issue to the statement that the right to collective bargaining alone was at stake.

Before that attack came out last night, Green had emerged from the President's office, with a number of Auto Union leaders, to announce "substantial progress."

All 20 of the delegates here had gone in first to receive Mr. Roosevelt's greetings. The group was quickly narrowed down to a dozen or so principal officials. Then all came out but the key men.

The latter gave a report to their fellows at labor headquarters in a meeting that lasted little more than an hour. It was mainly devoted to drafting the telegrams to the home-unions which were assembled, waiting word from Washington.

These messages, however, caused confusion for a time in some of the centers and labor officials had to spend a couple of hours on long distance telephone in an effort to straighten out misunderstandings which threatened walkouts this morning.

C. C. C. SCARLET FEVER CASES TRACED TO MILK.

Albany, N. Y., March 23 (AP)—The scarlet fever cases recently discovered in Civilian Conservation Corps camps at Chenango Forks and McDonough, Broome county, were "milk borne," the State Health Department said today at the completion of an investigation.

"One of the farms supplying milk to the camp we found two cases of sore throat," said Dr. Herman F. Sentner, head of the division of communicable diseases, "from which the cases may have developed. However, there were no cases of scarlet fever discovered on any farms."

Dr. Sentner declared that the department also found one cow ill with an inflammatory condition.

There were 47 milk cases, the first of which was reported on March 5. No new cases have been discovered since March 12.

HAROLD KEATOR BADLY HURT IN ACCIDENT IN HOSPITAL.

Harold Keator of Lake Katara was badly injured a week ago at Marzaretville where he was engaged in erecting a water tower and the derick on which he was standing turned over. He was injured about the spine and legs and was hurried to the Kingston Hospital where it is said he is showing improvement. Mr. Keator is division engineer superintendent of the New York Central Railroad.

De Valera Pushes His Bill to End the Senate

March 23.—President De Valera, charged with attempting to set himself up as a dictator, drove ahead determinedly to push his bill to abolish the Irish senate.

The bill was passed on first reading in the Dail Eireann last night, 19 to 13, but since the measure will be brought in the senate it was believed the government might go to the voters for support—possibly in June or July.

President De Valera sponsored the bill after the senate blocked a measure to ban the wearing of blue suits, symbol of the anti-government organization led by General Eoin O'Duffy.

Motion Pictures of Ulster Sportsmen

Enjoyed By Kinross Club at Weekly Luncheon Held Thursday—Edward Huben Gives History of Hunting and Fishing.

Thursday was "Sportsman's Day" at the Governor Clinton Hotel for the Kinross Club, who heard Edward Huben relate the history of hunting and fishing in the United States, the work of sportsmen in Ulster county, and saw a new series of motion pictures dealing with the activities of Ulster sportsmen, with Ben Winne operating the camera.

It was announced that plans for the Father-Daughter meeting of the club on April 5 were progressing and that a number of surprise events were in store for all who attended. It was also announced that on May 10 the local club would play host to all Kinross clubs in the second district, and that Frederick Snyder, noted lecturer and speaker, would be present to address the gathering. Judge Roger Loughran, chairman of the program committee, introduced Messrs Huben and Winne, after explaining that every man was interested to a certain extent in nature and outdoors, even if not in hunting and fishing.

Mr. Huben in opening his address related that the recent history of hunting and fishing in Ulster county was closely connected with the activities of the Federated Sportsmen's Club of Ulster county, an organization representing the major clubs in the county.

Mr. Huben traced the hobbies of hunting and fishing from the time of settlement of this section, when hunting and fishing was not a sport, but a means of surviving. He told how with the increase in population the forests were denuded, the wild life died or left, the fertile soil of the county was in many cases washed from barren hillsides into the streams, so that the sportsman's paradise vanished. In 1899 the first sportsmen's club, a conservative group, was formed in the state, he explained, but so much had been destroyed that it was impossible for this one organization to get very far. Consequently other clubs began to spring up and in 1897 the first club was formed in Ulster county, with Howard Myers as the first president.

Seeing this conservation was not enough, these clubs began to artificially propagate the wild life, and adopted definite programs toward sportsmen. There were a number of clubs doing this work, and in 1920 it was decided that inasmuch as all the clubs were working toward the same objective, it would be well to form a federation, that there would be no overlapping and that more might be accomplished. The result is the Federated Sportsmen's Club of Ulster county.

The state conservation commission watched with interest the activities in this county, and so well was the constitution laid out and a cooperative plan adopted that the Ulster county plan was sent over the entire state as a model for other counties to use in forming similar organizations.

The federation designates certain sections of the country as under the protection and supervision of each member club, which is responsible for that section.

At present there 13 clubs in the federation, with a membership in the neighborhood of 2,300. Thousands of fish and game birds were liberated last year, and hunting and fishing in this county will be as good as anywhere in the country this summer. The latest activity of the federation is a pheasant farm at Ruby, which set a record for raising birds from day old chicks until they are released at seven weeks old.

It was the contention of Mr. Huben that the work of the federation would make better conditions for everyone in the county; it will make Ulster a sportsmen's paradise, it will aid reforestation, gain more respect for the property of the farmer, protect the song bird, and will boost the county as a desirable place in which to live. For this reason Mr. Huben believed that everyone should take an interest in the activities of the federation and further its interests, which were largely unselfish.

The tables for this occasion were decorated with stuffed pheasants.

fish and fowl. On exhibit were a hunting and fishing prime bass caught by Kinross George Love, and a large pike caught by Mr. Winne.

The program ended with a number of reels of motion pictures depicting the wild life of the country, the work of the various clubs in artificially stocked streams and lakes, and the divisions of the members of the club trap hunting and fishing.

The musical program, which was in keeping with the program, was under the direction of Paul Zucca, accompanied at the piano by Danny Bittner. Among the songs sung were "A Hunting We Must Go," during which Mr. Zucca and Henry Osterhoudt put on a skit, "The Original Hunting Scene."

Mock Trial Saturday At Plattekill Grange

A mock trial will be held at Plattekill Grange Saturday night, when Peter Wilkin, accused of violating the Agricultural Adjustment Act, will be tried before the Hon. Charles Edward Thomas, of the King's (Hill) Court. The prosecuting attorney will be the Rt. Hon. Frederick H. Stang, K. C. and the attorney for the defense will be the Hon. J. M. Chase. The Clerk of the Court will be represented by Randolph Scott, and a U. S. Marshal by Arthur Diener. Every patron who has previously attended one of these mock trials knows what an hilarious evening is in store for them.

YOUTH COUNCIL'S "BUNCH OF FUN" THIS EVENING

This evening in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium at 8 o'clock, the Kingston Youth Council will present its first dramatic offering in the form of the three-act comedy, "Bunch of Fun" by Erastus Osgood.

This play, which will be given by the First Presbyterian Players, scored a marked success when it was presented in the First Presbyterian Church last month and it is expected to be just such a success tonight.

Is This Too Good For Your Cough?

Cromulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is made for quick relief, for safety.

Mild coughs often yield to lesser help. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Cromulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist guarantees it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known.—Adv.

"Lohengrin" Will Be This Week's Opera

Metropolitan Cast Headed by Reithberg, Olaszka and Melchior for Mature Presentation of Wagner's Popular Work

Told By
ELIZABETH REITHBERG
WHENEVER I sing Elsa in Wagner's "Lohengrin," as I shall this Saturday afternoon in the performance to be broadcast by the Metropolitan Opera Association, I remember my very first appearance on the stage. It was in "Lohengrin" at the Royal Opera House in Dresden. Fritz Reiner was the conductor, but I was not Elsa. I was only one of the pages who attend the Princess; yet I was as excited and nervous as if my entire career depended upon the way I walked across the stage with the other girls.

I was still very much in my "teens," living at home with my parents, taking singing lessons and singing now and then in churches and at amateur affairs. One night Mr. Reiner heard me sing, liked me, and arranged an audition for me at the Opera.

Somehow I must have got over my fright enough to sing fairly well for at the end of the audition the conductor offered me a contract for three years and Mr. Reiner told me to be ready to be a page in "Lohengrin" in two days.

I don't know how I got home—perhaps I ran most of the way—but I can still see the look on my father's face when I told him that I had been engaged at the Royal Opera and that he must go at once to sign the contract for me, for I was a minor and could not sign one myself. I don't think he really believed me until he had the contract in his hands.

Has Sung Role Many Times
Then there was a celebration and I am certain that my people were never prouder of me than on that night when I was one of the pages escorting Elsa to the church.

When I think of how other girls have had heart-breaking waits to get into a great Opera House I realize that I was very lucky but since that beginning my life like that of any other successful artist has been chiefly hard work. Luck has had very little to do with it.

I suppose that I have sung Elsa at least as often as any other role in my repertoire which now includes Italian and French as well as German operas. And like all women who have sung it, I am very fond of it. The music is beautiful, the part itself is sympathetic—in fact, the music is so beautiful and the part so sympathetic that it is difficult for an artist to fail in it. Of course there will always be critics who say that Elsa is a colorless character who cannot keep from asking forbidden questions but fortunately the public at large sees Elsa as I see her, a very lovely, poetic figure in a very lovely, poetic opera.

Elizabeth Reithberg, at top.
Maria Olaszka, bottom.

Story of Opera Is Romantic
The story is romance itself and must be familiar to nearly everybody. Elsa, Princess of Brabant, accused by the plotting Teiramund and his wicked wife, Ortrud, of having killed her young brother, must be defended by a champion who will battle for her honor with Teiramund. Thus dearest King Henry, sitting in judgment, in answer to her prayer there comes a beautiful knight, clad in dazzling armor, borne along the River Scheldt in a boat drawn by a swan. He will fight for her, but on condition that she never asks his name. Elsa is vindicated and overcomes the plotting bride of the champion. Her Ortrud works on the impressionable girl so successfully that after the marriage Elsa, despite her promise, asks the fatal question and the bride-groom must leave her. At the parting he tells her he is Lohengrin, the son of Parsifal, and a Knight of the Holy Grail. Making ready to depart, he gives her his horn, his sword and his ring.

The swan boat returns and Ortrud in remorse reveals that the swan is really Godfrey, Elsa's brother, whom she had enchanted. Lohengrin, as a parting gift to Elsa, breaks the magic spell, restores the lost brother and sails away in the boat, now drawn by a dove.

Contains Many Familiar Aids
The opera is in three acts, with two scenes in the last. It begins with the exquisite prelude which is one of the most beautiful creations of Wagner's genius, establishing the mood for what is to follow in the first act are such familiar numbers as Elsa's Dream and Lohengrin's Farewell to the Swan, as well as magnificent ensembles.

In the second act is the dramatic scene between Ortrud and Teiramund, Elsa's aria, the duet between Elsa and Ortrud and all the pomp and circumstance of the great procession to the church.

The third act opens with that magnificent introduction, descriptive of the wedding festivities, which leads directly into the Bridal Chorus, familiarly known as the "Wedding March from Lohengrin." Here also in the first scene is the very beautiful duet of Lohengrin and Elsa while in the final scene is heard Lohengrin's Narrative and his Farewell to his bride.

It is one of the curious facts of musical history that while "Lohengrin" was produced in Weimar in 1850 Wagner did not hear it until 1861, for during all those years he was in political exile from Germany.

My colleagues in tomorrow's performance will be Lauritz Melchior, Teiramund; Gustav Schützendorf, Teiramund; Maria Olaszka, Ortrud; Emanuel List, King Henry; and George Cahanowsky, the Herald. Artur Bodanzky will be the conductor.

Miss Frances Bruyn was the hostess to a card party last week. Also Mrs. Mame Maynard was hostess to the 500 Club.

The Grange held a card and bunco party Wednesday night at their hall in Lord.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Foster of Kingston attended the covered dish supper in the M. E. Church here Friday night. Over 100 were served.

Mrs. Mabel Hashbrock has spent a short time in Albany with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Davis and family.

Lorin Callahan and friends have returned from a few weeks spent in Florida.

Arthur Decker of New York city is a guest of Captain R. H. Decker and wife at their home, "Glen View," Highland.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhoades have received word that their daughter, Alma, wife of David Russell of Tarrytown, is ill with scarlet fever, and that her daughter has been ill with the same disease for over three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Coutant entertained guests for the week-end from Astoria, L. I.

Alfred Hopper, Mrs. H. Schumacher and her daughter are going to take a trip to South America. Fifteen ladies of the M. E. Church were entertained at the M. E. parsonage Tuesday afternoon. The hostesses were Mrs. H. Killinder and Mrs. J. R. Mellis. It was in the form of a "social silver tea." Mrs. Thomas of Kingston was present. They played some games and refreshments were served Mrs. Hall, mother of Mrs. Killinder, poured. A very nice sum was added to the treasury.

MODERNISTIC ART'S OLD ALSO UGLY—POPE SAYS

Vatican City (AP)—Pope Pius, in an improvised talk to a group of Italian art lovers, declared that modern religious art is "too often shamelessly ugly."

The artists of today, especially painters, he said, frequently disfigure their subjects "to the point of caricature."

"The new," he said, "does not represent real progress unless it is at least as pretty and artistic as the old."

"Deformation is not new. It thrived in certain art of medieval times, when traditions were lost in a wave of barbarism."

American Pecans Hit Brazil Nuts
Para, Brazil (AP)—American pecans are cutting into the foreign market for Brazil nuts. Senhor Tacito Chaves, Para industrialist, said on his return from a trip to the United States. Brazil nuts have been the chief export of Amazonian states since the Brazilian rubber boom collapsed a score of years ago.

Gifts to Nazis Made Tax-Free.
Munich, Germany (AP)—To encourage bequests and gifts to the national socialist party the government has announced that all such donations would be freed from the usual taxes, the theory being that the gifts are "in the service of the state."

HOMESPUN YARN

One way to help hide the radiator is to paint it to match the walls.

A damp, clean sponge is better than a brush to take lint off broom-cloth.

To keep the electric waffle iron bright and clean, use ordinary baking soda. Apply it in dry form.

Do not fasten linoleum to the floor until two weeks after it has been laid. This allows it to stretch.

Cottage cheese is a good cheese for little children. Mix it with chopped dates or raisins for sandwiches.

Dip the measuring cup in cold water before measuring molasses or thick syrup. The syrup will pour much more easily.

When sewing by machine on sheer soft materials, prevent pulling and puckering by laying a strip of paper under the material. The paper, even though stitched, can easily be torn off when the sewing is finished.

WHITE WOMAN

SECRET SINNERS

SUN., MON., TUE.—SPENCER TRACY in "MAD GAME"

To those who see a mouse in the house, it is a nuisance. To those who see a mouse in the house, it is a nuisance. To those who see a mouse in the house, it is a nuisance.

Today
Look well to the day.
For it, and it alone, is life.
In the briefness of this one day lie all the virtues and realities of the universe.
The joy of growth, the splendor of beauty, the glory of action.
Yesterday is but a dream, and tomorrow
is only a vision.
But today, well lived, makes every yesterday a dream of happiness.
And each tomorrow a vision of hope.
Look well, therefore, to this one day.
For it, and it alone, is life.
Such is the salutation of the dawn.

June: Water, what kind of soup
is this?
Water—Golden soup—14 carrots.

The depression has one good thing to its credit, anyway. No many men found it possible to lead a double life
on 115 a week.

Brown had very large feet and a very bad cough. He had entered a shoe store, and the salesman had turned the place upside down trying to find a pair of shoes large enough to fit him. Brown had just tried to get the fifteenth pair of shoes on when he began coughing.
Salesman—That's a nasty cough
you have.
Brown (gasping)—Yes, the doctor
says I've one foot in the grave.
Salesman—Don't worry, you'll never be able to get the other one in.

It's more polite to say a man wins
a bride than that he had one inflicted upon him.

Editor—If a big man comes here
looking for trouble tell him I'm out.
Office Boy—How about handling
him myself, if he's in my class?

Read in the paper the other day
where a woman in High Point, N. C., came home without her make-up on,
and her own dog bit her.

You know, Ethel, there's something about you that reminds me of my mother.

Girl Friend—Please tell me what it is and I'll have it seen to.

The average wife begins to sit up and take notice when other women
say nice things about her husband.

SPICES... Girls, it isn't true love unless his chest goes up and down like the man's on the screen... It's the things you tell confidentially that spread the quickest and over the largest territory... The trouble with most of us is that we first grow up and then grow out... The business shrewdness a man develops doesn't get him much when he attends a church bazaar... Boys used to wear overalls and do plumbing, but now-days they wear spats and sell bonds.

Too many persons seem to be content to lick this depression by paying for it later... The Treasury Department is said to be anxious to relieve the small taxpayer. We have been, kind sir—and how... Lasting friendship must rest upon a certain harmony of spirit... An idle remark doesn't remain that way long... The election what is a Halleujah to one candidate is a Dirge to his neighbor...
What we need is more head-work,
hand-work, leg-work, less jaw-work...
It is pleasant sometimes to meet people who haven't been rich long enough to be rude... Yes, indeed, the human race has improved about everything except the human race...
A man is judged by the company he keeps; a woman by the company she has just left... "The dame who knows the ropes doesn't get tied up," wincecracks Mae West.

Friend—The doctor said my wife
needs sea air.
Neighbor—So you've sent her to the seaside, eh?
Friend—No, I've tied a herring to the electric fan.

That's all... See you again.

"C'mon," says the Puff, to his lioness friend.
"I'll make you vice president. The law will amend."
But Puff soon discovers—just see
his dismay—
They've had three elections since he went away.

tian Temperance Union held at the home of Mrs. Luther Terwilliger on North Oakwood Terrace, Wednesday afternoon, March 21. The president, Mrs. Ida Stephens, was in charge. Mrs. Terwilliger led the devotions. The business session followed with roll call and reports.

Communications were read and discussions followed on various subjects. The president took charge of the afternoon program and began by reading a song for the Young Crusader and passed out others which were used by the following ladies: Mrs. Luther Terwilliger, Mrs.
Webb Kniffen, Mrs. Morgan Cox,
Miss Helen Osterhout, Mrs. Kathryn Schoonmaker, Mrs. Hiram Relson, Mrs. George Powers, and Mrs.

Sentencing of Strowl Is Delayed a Week
Albany, N. Y. March 22 (AP)—Sentencing of Manny Strowl, convicted last week of kidnapping John J. O'Connell, Jr., for $45,000 ransom, was deferred today until next week.
On Monday the prosecution, in order to demand a 50-year mandatory prison term for Strowl, will have to prove that he is the same person who was served time in Atlanta federal penitentiary.

Press Mimics See LaGuardia a Gorilla At 'On Record' Dinner
Al Smith Tells Correspondents At Albany That He's Still in Political Ball Game—Lehman Also a Speaker at "On Record" Party.
Albany, N. Y. March 22 (AP)—New York state legislators and politicians mimicked, roasted and teased today had seen how they looked to the men who write about them and what they do.
Proposals became realities and off-the-record was put on the record last night by the legislative correspondents at their annual dinner.
A zoo, filled with noisy and fighting animals in Democratic and Republican cages, portrayed the theme of the stunt-making. "Scars and Stripes."
Mayor LaGuardia, mimicked as a gorilla, wandered into the menagerie and fled in fright when the animals broke from their cages and chased him out.
Al Smith, too, found it too unruly for him as he retired, said: "I'm still a young man," adding "I'm still in the political ball game."
Governor Lehman and Mayor LaGuardia were the principal speakers at the affair, the 33rd of the association.
Other prominent guests were Postmaster General Farley, former Governor Alfred E. Smith, John F. Curry, Ferdinand Pecora, Mayor George J. Zimmemman of Buffalo and all important figures in state affairs.
President Roosevelt, an honorary member of the association, sent regrets he could not be present.
Political difficulties that have beset the legislators and state political figures were mimicked in newsreel style by a series of blackouts.
Lady Luck was installed as the first lady of New York city, as a mimic of Mayor LaGuardia told of the proposal of a municipal lottery to get the city out of the red.
"For the National City Bank," the mayor said, "I'll give you the Faro bank. I'll take the to-let signs off the buildings with roulette. We're at the turn of the road and we'll meet it with the turn of the wheel—the lottery wheel."
Lion Lehman, handed a menu card by the keeper of the zoo reading "Reelect Lehman Governor," was asked "Does that appeal to you?"
"Sure," the lion replied, "if Jim Farley isn't a two-timer I'll be a two-termer."

Expedition to Bring Back Plane Victims
Mendoza, Argentina, March 22 (AP)—A mysterious air tragedy which cost nine lives 20 months ago in the snowbound Andean Mountain fastnesses awaited today with the return of an expedition sent to bring back the bodies.
Yesterday two mountaineers found the plane, its nose buried in the slope of Cerro Del Plomo, a mountain due east of Santiago.
The mountaineers found the nine bodies, well preserved by cold, in and around the plane. One was headless.

BALTIC PORT MAKES UNUSUAL GROWTH
On Way to Rank Among Harbors of Europe.
Washington—Gdynia, in spite of the world depression, continues its phenomenal growth. Although a mere infant among the ports of Europe, it seems on the way to rank among the great ports of the continent.
"In the early years of the nineteenth century, Gdynia's site was a bleak region of sand dunes beset with a few shabby fishermen's huts and isolated from the commercial and industrial regions of Europe," says a bulletin from the National Geographic society.
"Then, perhaps, little thought was given the sandy shore as a harbor site. When the allied powers aided Poland in securing an outlet to the sea—the so-called Polish corridor to the Baltic—engineers were put to work to plan a new port; and today travelers are astounded that in so brief a time, a huge, modern world port has risen on the former barren wastes."
Has 50,000 Inhabitants.
There is no trace of the fishermen's huts at Gdynia. Now, in their places are fine residences that house the city's more than 50,000 inhabitants, and public buildings, banks, hotels, theaters, hospitals, office buildings and parks that flank broad, bustling boulevards and inviting promenades.
"Along with Gdynia's development, steel rails began to spread inland and shipping men were drawn to its harbor. Now one can step on a train at the railroad station bound for almost any of the capitals and commercial centers of central Europe and eastern Russia; or one may buy tickets for passage on ships that will deliver him bag and baggage, at any one of approximately 120 American, European, or oriental ports. Thirty-eight regular shipping lines call at Gdynia. The most recent line to make it a port of call links it with far eastern ports including those of China and Japan."
Many shippers in rich agricultural and industrial regions of an area as large as France, Italy and the British Isles combined, are using Gdynia as a doorway through which to send their wares. The Polish government has established a free port to draw commerce toward the city.
The harbor is entered directly from the Baltic sea. There are no rocks or other obstacles to navigation. The harbor bottom is firm and requires little dredging. The Baltic sea is practically tideless at this point; winds are light and waves are seldom high.
Miles of Modern Docks.
"A view of the waterfront of the city from the rail of an approaching steamer startles the stranger who knows its brief history. There are miles upon miles of modern docks, mostly of concrete equipped with a forest of cranes which rapidly load and unload cargoes of every description. In the same panorama rise huge warehouses with thousands of square feet of floor space for commodities awaiting shipment inland or to other ports. Then there is the port's refrigerating plant, the second largest in the world, that can accommodate a whole train of cars at a time; a huge rice husking plant, an oil mill, a 3,000-ton floating dock, and modern coal transshipment equipment. The latter has a capacity of 450 tons per hour.
"Some idea of the port's growth may be found in Gdynia's commercial statistics. In 1924, 24 ships with a combined tonnage of 14,000 entered the port. Not many cities would thrive on that record, but Gdynia took it as a signal for a boom. People from nearly all the countries of Europe began to filter into its boundaries; new ship lines sought it and railroads and highways threaded through strange lands toward it. In 1930, 2,200 ships with tonnage of 2,000,000 sailed in and out of the harbor, and last year, 7,200 ships with a tonnage of 5,579,000 and representing 23 countries docked there.
"Any day a panorama of the harbor might include ships flying the flags from fifteen or more nations, and the Stars and Stripes is frequently among them."

Watch Lost in Wreck Found Far From Scene
Prague.—A diamond wrist watch belonging to one of the victims of the railway disaster near Legny on December 23 was discovered in the eastern corner of the Czechoslovak republic.
A farmer in Carpatho-Russia recently offered a valuable platinum wrist watch with 14 diamonds to a jeweler in Munkacs for sale. The jeweler consulted the police, who questioned the farmer's wife, Mrs. Stecova. She said that she had worked as a housemaid in New York and traveled back home on the Strasburg train which hit the Nancy express at Legny. She had found the watch among the debris of the Nancy train. Police are trying to establish the rightful owner's identity.
Faithful Hunting Dogs Guard Body of Owner
Wilford, Ohio.—As faithful as the famed St. Bernard dogs of the Alps, two hunting dogs of Charles Wilford, 57-year-old of Wilford, stood guard over his body when he succumbed to a heart attack while driving his automobile near here. The two hounds bayed continuously until farmers came. The machine in which he was driving was wrecked.

Crum-Whipple.
Miss Geraldine M. Whipple of 56 Gage street and Kenneth M. Crum of 140 Stephen street, were united in marriage on Thursday evening in the parsonage of the Reformed Church of the Comforter by the Rev. W. F. Stowe. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith.

About the Folks

Dr. Samuel Stern left today for Elmira to attend a meeting of the board of managers of the Reformatory there on Saturday. He will be at his office here on Monday morning.

Sergeant James J. Cunningham, accompanied by Mrs. Cunningham and State Troopers Senecal and Smith, are spending a couple of weeks in St. Petersburg, Fla., making the trip by automobile.

Mrs. Lucinda Brower, who has been spending the winter with her son in Lutherville, has returned to Kingston and is spending some time with Mrs. William G. DuBois, 70 Van Buren street. Mrs. DuBois and daughter, Grace, went to Weehawken to meet her.

NEIGHBORS

By ANNE CAMPBELL

I CAN do without love; I can do without friends;
I can do without laughter, and rest from my labors.
I can do without luxury. (Life makes amends)
But I find that I simply can't do without neighbors.

The cheerful "good morning," the wave from the walk,
The moment of gossip across the new flowers;
The smile when I'm weary, the futile small talk,
Put comradeship into the swift-passing hours.

I may break with my kin; I may frown on my love;
I may miss the rich harvest rewarding my labors.
But I, to be happy, must think kindly of a world full of people I know as my neighbors!

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 22 (AP)—Doubtful and full financial markets today awaited further inspiration from Washington.

Stocks were mostly mixed during the early hours. The leader tape drifted along at a stable pace. Fractional changes were the rule. With the motor labor situation in status quo notwithstanding reports of progress in the presidential negotiations for settlement, traders showed little inclination to step out of line.

Business and industrial news continued bright in the face of potential strikes. The railway wage situation seemed hopeful.

There was much timidity in commodity transactions. Grains were slightly easier as were rubber futures. Cotton was up a trade and sugar and butter bonds were spotty. Foreign exchanges were featureless.

Some of the alcohol shares were given a play, with Schenley, Commercial Solvents, American Commercial, National Distillers and U. S. Industrial getting up fractions to about a point. The rails, metals, motors, utilities and aircrafts were usually trendless. Such issues as American Telephone, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Case, Union Pacific, Public Service of New Jersey and U. S. Smelting were unchanged to a bit lower.

The more than seasonal increase of 13,571 freight car loadings for the week ended March 17, placed the total at 625,773, another peak since October 23, last. The exportational spirit was said to have been caused partly by rushing shipments in order to get ahead of possible strikes in the major industries.

March 22, 1934.

Editor,
The Freeman:
The early history of Kingston is taught in the 4-B Grades in the city schools.
As nearly all the material we have for such information has been gathered from articles those recently published in The Freeman have been of great help and much appreciated.
These clippings have been compiled in the form of a scrap book.

LINCOLN'S FATHER
EXPERT MECHANIC

Not Backwoods No'er Do Well, Authority Reports.

New York—Thomas Lincoln, father of Abraham Lincoln, was an expert cabinet maker and wheelwright, and not at all a backwoods ne'er-do-well, as might be inferred from some biographies of the Emancipator and his family, says Thomas H. Ormsbee, editor of "The American Collector," and an authority on antiques.

Several little known but well documented pieces of furniture have come to light which show that Thomas Lincoln was a craftsman above average in skill for his surroundings, says Ormsbee. The record book of the Primitive Baptist church at Gentryville, Ind., discloses that Thomas Lincoln built his first church, as well as the pulpit and pews.

"Had half-orphaned Thomas Lincoln not desired to learn a trade," says Mr. Ormsbee, "he would not, at the age of twenty-two, have apprenticed himself to Joseph Hanks of Elizabethtown, Ky. He learned three trades, carpentering, cabinet making, and wheelwrighting. He also met and married Joseph's sister, Nancy Hanks.
Thereafter, although in keeping with the frontier custom, he was a farmer,
his expert services were always ready
and in demand."

In Elizabethtown some houses built by Hanks are still standing, and on some of them Thomas Lincoln did some of the work.

There are three perfectly authenticated pieces of furniture made by Thomas Lincoln, says Ormsbee. One is a desk set made for Doctor Crooks, physician of Gentryville; another is a walnut corner cupboard which was exhibited a few years ago at the Los Angeles Museum of History, and which now is back in Indiana; and the third is a walnut dish cupboard which was made for Josiah Crawford and now is in the Spencer county courthouse
at Rockport, Ind.

Ormsbee gives high praise to the workmanship of the dish cupboard.
He points out that when the corner cupboard was on display in Los Angeles it bore a card which said:

"Corner cupboard—made by Abraham Lincoln, with the assistance of his father."
Ormsbee suggests that if Abraham Lincoln worked on it at all, it was probably as apprentice to his father.
He talked with Ida M. Tarbell, biographer and authority on Lincoln, and quotes her as saying that Abraham had little aptitude for tools; that records indicated he was glad enough to give up cabinet making for the less exacting occupations of rail splitting,
trading, and storekeeping.

First Automobile Show
Is Traced Back to 1805

Philadelphia—The first automobile show in America was held in Center square, site of the present city hall,
in the summer of 1805, some historians
here have learned.

Oliver Evans, who was about fifty years old at the time, was the inventor of the first machine to move under its own power. He had worked for years to perfect his steam engine.
Then he learned that the city authorities wanted mud removed from the banks of the Delaware and Schuylkill rivers.

Evans completed his engine, mounted it on a crude wagon frame and prepared to demonstrate its value as a digger.

He decided to take it across the city so that the people would have an opportunity to see his invention.
In those days Center square, which had been used as a drill ground by British, American and French troops in the Revolution, was the favorite promenade of the society folk of the city. Evans decided that it would be the place to exhibit his "horseless carriage."

An advertisement in the Philadelphia Gazette of July 13, 1805, describes the affair.

Prehistoric Bison
Unearthed by Boy

McArthur, Calif.—A small boy's curiosity resulted in the discovery of a prehistoric buffalo head believed to be 20,000 years old.

Burnett Day, thirteen, was trying to round up some wayward sheep when he picked up an object to throw. It was too heavy. It looked like an old horn. Burnett called his father's attention and J. R. Day took it home.

Some time later, Day began digging into a high bank on the Pitt river, where the object was found.
In the sandstone 20 feet down he discovered the skull of a strange animal.

Paleontologists said the skull
and horn were remains of a buffalo which ranged the California plains 20,000 years ago. The horns had a spread of 10 feet or more, and were 7 inches in diameter at the base. The skull weighed 100 pounds.

Scientists at the University of California began a study of the find.

PETER LEARNS OLD
MOTHER NATURE
KNOWS BEST

PETER RABBIT sat under his favorite Old Bramble Bush in the middle of the Old Briar Patch, and Peter wasn't altogether happy. No, sir, he wasn't happy as he should have been. You see, he was feeling rather dissatisfied. It seemed to him that everybody had more than he. At least, that is what he tried to make himself believe. He wanted to believe it, and you know you can make yourself believe almost anything if you want to bad enough.

Peter was waiting for Nimblicheels,
the Jumping Mouse, to return. Nim-

"What Kind of Seeds Are Those?"
Asked Peter.

blicheels had gone to search for a pocketful of seeds. It was finding out that little Nimblicheels has a pair of handy pockets in his cheeks that had made foolish Peter dissatisfied.

"Old Mother Nature isn't at all fair," muttered Peter. "Why didn't she give me pockets? Why should she have given Striped Chipmunk and this little squirrel a Mouse pockets and not me?"
Peter quite forgot that he was not the only one without pockets. You see, he was thinking only of himself.

"What is good for one is good for another," he continued, still talking to himself. "I'd like to go out and fill a couple of pockets and then come home and eat in peace. Nothing would be nicer. No, sir, Old Mother Nature hasn't been at all fair. I was taught when I was little that she knows best,

but I don't believe it. I certainly do not. I would be ever so much better off if I had a couple of nice, handy pockets."

Just then Nimblicheels returned with a pocketful of seeds which he emptied
in a little pile and at once began to eat. "What kind of seeds are those?"
asked Peter.

"Some grass seeds, but mostly weed
seeds," replied Nimblicheels. "Won't you have a couple?"

Peter turned his head to hide a smile. "No, I thank you," he replied
politely. "I am not very fond of seeds.
My teeth are not made for them. I like green food such as sweet clover, grass and vegetables, when I can get them in Farmer Brown's garden." Inside he was laughing at the offer of a couple of seeds, and thinking that it would take all Nimblicheels' had brought to make even a good taste.

"You were quite right when you called those pockets handy," said Peter. "I wouldn't mind having a couple myself. I suppose you can carry a whole dinner in them."

Nimblicheels nodded. "They will hold a lot of seeds," said he. "more than I can eat at one time. But I don't think you would have much use for pockets in your cheeks, Peter."

"Why haven't I, just as much as you?" demanded Peter indignantly.

The little bright, beady eyes of Nim-blicheels twinkled and snapped, but he didn't even smile as he said: "From what I have seen of you, Peter, your stomach is bigger than any two pockets in your cheeks could possibly be.
Besides, the kind of food you eat couldn't be put in a pocket very well.
I rather think you'd find, if you think it over, that Old Mother Nature knows best."

Peter pulled his whiskers thoughtfully. He remembered what a lot of sweet clover he could eat at one meal,
and then tried to imagine crowding it into a couple of pockets in his cheeks.
The idea made him laugh right out.

"You are right, Nimblicheels," he cried. "There isn't the least doubt about it. Mother Nature does know best. She certainly does."

BERKSHIRE SPEAKS
MIND ON POLITICS

Editor, Freeman:

It seems that whenever the Democratic party comes into power a great problem confronts them. Namely, to get within their party every available job. It never occurs to that political organization that perhaps it would make for a more efficient administration to retain some capable and experienced men.
We now have a very vivid picture of Democratic policies here in our own county. The Democratic party has already made their first major mistake by trying to remove a man whose ability as highway superintendent is known throughout the state. James Loughran, although a Republican, has had the approval of the State Board of Highways at all times, the State Board being Democratic.

"If one was observant, he could have noticed a large number of County Highway employees displaying Democratic political posters on their automobiles before election each year. This is proof enough as to Mr. Loughran's sincerity in keeping good men on county jobs regardless of politics."

Above all, the new County Board is trying to remove a man from office who is under Civil Service and has three more years to serve under his present appointment. Now, what does the Board offer as an excuse for Mr. Loughran's removal? They say:
"The people of Ulster County have elected a Democratic Board as they were discontented with the management of County Highways." Anyone can readily see the weakness of this argument. As the New Palts Independent words it, "It's a poor excuse."

I have before me the data on a very appropriate precedent established by the Democratic party in 1911 in the New York State Senate.

In 1911 the Senate of the State of New York went Democratic. The party was so hungry for jobs at that time that everyone connected with the Senate of the previous year was replaced by a Democrat. The business of the Senate was well under way before it was realized that things were not running smoothly.
The new attaches did not know enough of their duties. At a great expense to the State a large number of Republicans were recalled to clear up the mess and Senate business was started all over again.

The Senate Democrats learned their lesson. When the New York State Senate went Democratic again last year, Republican key men were kept in office to see that Senate business was managed properly.

Ulster county was so poorly managed by the Republican administration that the people deemed it wise to return that party to office for 28 consecutive years. But now we have a Democratic administration elected by a mandate of the people with the very tremendous majority of one vote to organize the Board.
The new administration says, "Ulster county doesn't even have a bonded indebtedness." We sincerely hope that a new court house isn't built for which we will have to pay interest for 50 years.

Rosendale Plays Luckies At White Eagle Tonight

The next game in the series for the semi-pro basketball championship of Ulster county will be played tonight in White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, between Rosendale and Jack Troy's Luckies, the Luckies being favored to win. There are two good reasons for the choice. First, the Rosendalers haven't won a game in the series to date and second, the Luckies will be on their own court. Both clubs will use their regular lineups. The Luckies—Bing Van Etten and "Chips" Rhymer, forwards; Pete Schline, center; Don Kelly and Dan Joyce, guards; Phil Kelly, utility. Rosendale—Sid Silvernall, Norm Niles, forwards; Hank Krum, center; Jimmy Merritt and Joe Dulin, guards; "Hokie" Rask and Gil Kelder, utility.

Jones Six Strokes Behind Leaders In The First Round

By DILLON GRAHAM
Associated Press Sports Writer
Augusta, Ga., March 23 (AP)—It's a little early to count Bobby Jones out, but if his opening play in the Masters Invitation Golf Tournament gave true indication of his current ability around the greens his professional rivals will have something to celebrate by Sunday night.

Starting the second round of the 72 hole test, Jones held the unusual position of being six strokes behind the leaders and in a tie for thirty-fifth place in a field of 72. He shot a 76 Thursday and all the strokes the former world champion lost were due to inaccuracy around the greens. He missed at least a half dozen putts on less than six feet.

Triple Tie for First
Horton Smith, Emmett French and Jimmie Hines were in a triple tie for first with 70's, two under par. A stroke back were the veterans Walter Hagen, Craig Wood, Johnny Golden and Henry Picard, a youngster from Charleston, S. C. Bill Burke, United States open champion three years ago and Byron Lafoon, a youthful star from Kentucky, were at par 72, while Leo Diegel, who started his major golf career with Jones back in 1920, and Denny Shute, the British open champion, held 73's. MacDonald Smith and Willie MacFarlane were among those grouped at 74.

Jones Near Chief Rivals.

If Gene Sarazen isn't in the big golfing joust at Augusta as the professionals renew their old rivalry with Bob Jones after a four-year lapse, it will be due as much to personal pique as to the American professional champion's desire to make a golfing tour of the Latin-American capitals by airplane.

The Sarazen-Jones rivalry goes back to 1922 when Gene, not long out of the caddy ranks, shot his way down the stretch at Skokie, Ill., for the national open championship. Since then it has involved a number of incidents that created a bit of ill-feeling, if not actual enmity.

There was the occasion, for instance, when Sarazen and Kirkwood were on tour, with Atlanta among their stops and they hoped, Jones among their exhibition match opponents. They were scheduled to play on Bob's home course, East Lake, but Jones left town the day they arrived and the Sarazen-Kirkwood combination had to arrange its own starting time.

Later, the publication of an erroneous story that Jones was seeking the award of the 1934 national open for his new Augusta course led Gene to attack the Georgian's reported motives.

No Spot To Pass Up
For very excellent reason, the pros have been building up the youthful Paul Runyan and Denny Shute, the sharpshooting British open champion, for the coming test. I think there would be more real old-fashioned drama in a Jones-Sarazen duel down the stretch at Augusta than anything else.

A Great Best-Ball Card
Horton Smith and Paul Runyan, failed by one shot on the last green to retain their honors in the Miami four-ball professional tournament, one of the most spectacular golf events of the winter season, hit in the course of four days' play their put together an astonishing best ball over the 6,327-yard, well-trapped Miami Country club course.

Manthaber Runs 40.
In the third block of the 500-point billiard match between Freddie Manthaber, city champion, and Tony Gentile, former title-holder, Thursday night a N.C.K.'s won by Manthaber, 126-133, the crown bearer added to his prestige by running off 40 balls, the highest number recorded in tournament play. Now Manthaber needs only 124 balls to cop the challenge match between him and Gentile. Tony's best run last night was 21.

Croesus' Golden River
Croesus, who lived from 560 to 546 B. C. and who was famous in antiquity for his great wealth, was king of Lydia in Asia Minor. According to tradition, his wealth was principally obtained from the golden sands of the River Pactolus, which flowed through his dominions. The true source of his riches was probably the industry of his people, who were not only great producers but great traders. There is no record of the extent of his wealth, but there is some account of his landed properties, from which an ingenious archeologist has estimated them to have been worth between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

The Town Pump
Prior to 1930, the entire water supply of Washington was obtained from 11 large springs and numerous small wells. Many were still in use until after the first filtration plant was completed in 1908. The two most famous sources were the Congress and Franklin Square springs. The former, so what is now the McMillan Park reservoir, supplied the Capitol, Treasury, Post Office and all the big places along Pennsylvania avenue. The latter, in Franklin square, supplied the White House, the State, War and Navy building—Washington Post.

BRITISH INDUSTRY GAINS

AS WORKERS FIND JOBS

London (P)—A decrease of 71,153 compared with January and of 538,729 compared with February of last year is marked in the British unemployment figures for February, 1934.

The official count shows that the number registered with employment exchanges in Great Britain as wholly unemployed was 1,881,432.

Industries showing the greatest improvement were building and public works contracting, tailoring, boot and shoe manufacture and pottery plants.

The Hull Fishing Fleet

A great fishing fleet is Hull, on the north coast of England. It has about 4,000 fishermen, and some 80,000 persons on shore are dependent, to some degree, upon their work. A number of the boats of the Hull fleet make long trips into the northern waters, sometimes going 2,000 miles from the home port.

Fort Ewen, March 23.—A meeting of the Fort Ewen Society will be held this evening at the home of Mrs. Raymond Howe.

Hope Lodge, No. 65, K. of P. will hold its regular meeting this evening.

The weekly meeting of the Boy Scouts will be held in the Reformed Church House this evening.

The Fort Ewen Fire, Dram and Bugle Corps will give a minstrel show in Pythian Hall on the evenings of April 10 and 11. This, it is hoped, will be one of the best minstrel shows given in Port Ewen in some time, and a good patronage is desired.

The Reformed and the Methodist Episcopal Churches will unite for four special services at 7:30 p. m. on Tuesday through Friday of Holy Week. The places of meeting and the speakers are as follows: Tuesday, Reformed Church, the Rev. Lucas Boers, D. D., pastor of the First Reformed Church of Kingston; Wednesday, Methodist Episcopal Church, the Rev. Fred H. Deming, D. D., pastor of the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church of Kingston; Thursday, Reformed Church, the Rev. J. Thoburn Legg; Friday, Methodist Episcopal Church, the Rev. Philip Goertz. Members of the Methodist Church are asked to note the change from the schedule given in the bulletin of last Sunday.

CENTRAL HUDSON COMMERCIAL

MANAGER SPEAKS IN THE SOUTH

Harris E. Dexter, general commercial manager of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, is one of the principal speakers today at the annual convention of the Southern Gas Association, which is being held in Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. Dexter will discuss the importance of kitchen modernization as an aid to the future growth of the gas industry. He is recognized as an authority on this subject, having been in a large measure responsible for his company's present leadership in this field.

Mr. Dexter is also chairman of the Kitchen Modernizing Committee of the American Gas Association.

Kauder Brings Fame To Hudson Valley

Hudson Valley poultrymen are justly proud of the achievements accomplished by Kauder's Pedigreed Leghorns of New Paltz, in the official egg laying contests throughout the country. These egg laying contests are under state supervision and are recognized as the official proving grounds for production bred poultry. Competitions are open to poultry breeders throughout the world.

Living Kauder today enjoys an enviable position, never before held by any other breeder. In the latest egg laying contest, in this country, he holds first position simultaneously, for single comb white Leghorns, in three contests, second place in one.

First—Western Egg Laying Contest, Stafford, N. Y.

First—Central Egg Laying Contest, Horseheads, N. Y.

First—Michigan State Egg Laying Contest, E. Lansing, Mich.

Second—Storrs Egg Laying Contest, Storrs, Conn.

Kauder's Pedigreed Leghorns have been awarded two trophies from the Michigan state egg laying contest. For not only do these birds stand in first place in this contest, but trophies have been awarded for second place in this contest, likewise, Hen No. 219, in this contest, has scored more points than have ever been scored before by a single hen, during the winter months of the year.

At Storrs, Conn., with two pens entered, these pedigreed birds, bred by Irving Kauder, have demonstrated their superiority to withstand cold weather and severe conditions, for, during the months of January and February these two peas held first and second place respectively. An accomplishment most remarkable in view of the cold weather we have experienced in many a year.

This is a most convincing proof of the exact environmental conditions existing in Hudson Valley as a true poultry raising center.
